

Michel Troper graduated from the Institut d'Etudes Politiques in 1959, received a doctorate degree from the University of Paris in 1967, with a dissertation on « the separation of powers in French constitutional History ». After having served as assistant professor at the Universities of Lyon from 1963 to 1965 and Paris between 1966 and 1968, he won the agregation in public law in 1968 and became a professor at the University of Rouen, where he taught constitutional Law and Legal theory until 1978. In 1978, he was appointed at Paris X, where he has been teaching these same subjects. In 1993 he received an appointment to a chair of the Institut Universitaire de France. He has been emeritus professor since 2006.

He has been a visiting professor and gave lectures in many universities in various countries, including the United States (Boston College Law School, Cardozo School of Law, University of Chicago Law School), Italy, Germany, Belgium, Spain, Israel, Brazil, Japan, Canada.

He has served in several scientific societies, in the French Society for legal and political philosophy (SFPJ) as president, in the International Association for Legal and social philosophy (IVR) as member of the executive committee, in the French association for Constitutional Law, also as member of the executive committee. He is also a member of the editorial or scientific committee of several journals.

Michel Troper has written several books and many articles in the areas of Legal Philosophy, Constitutional Law, Constitutional Theory and Constitutional History.

Most recent books

- Droit constitutionnel, Paris, LGDJ, 31^{ème} édit. 2009 (with Francis HAMON)
- Le droit, la théorie du droit, l'Etat, Paris, PUF, 2001.
- La philosophie du droit », Paris, PUF, 2003, coll. Que Sais-je ? trad. ital. espagnole, arabe parues ; trad. japonaise en cours.
- Terminer la Révolution : la constitution de 1795, Paris, Fayard, 2006.
- (edit.) Comment décident les juges. La constitution, les collectivités locales et l'éducation, Paris, Economica, 2008.
- La séparation des pouvoirs, 2ème édit., Paris, LGDJ, 2009.